Objective

The objective of our game is, as interns, to get a return offer on corporate jobs by curing the favour of our boss with various objects.

The game's starting point is the playable character (insert name) as a new intern at the company (insert name) with two other interns. As in reality, internships can become very competitive so all three interns will be competing with each other for a return offer at the end of the term. Throughout the internship, you will be able to talk to the boss curry favour and undermine the other interns with items you collect throughout the internship. You will be able to talk with the secretary as well to inform you about events and clues to improve favour with the boss.

The Boss will also become distracted when you try to talk to the boss when something happens for example a phone call, a company emergency, someone passed out, etc. So you gotta get creative! Find items to help you attract the boss' attention to improve your favorability with him. For example, throw coffee at your coworkers to slow them down, or help them get a position in a different branch, Hack into their computer using the USB hacking script, Put Laxatives in your fellow internships coffee. Or even get close to your boss on purpose to get him to get away from his office so you can snoop around and get information; beware the assistant might be looking. You can find his contact info but it is a tough route to go.

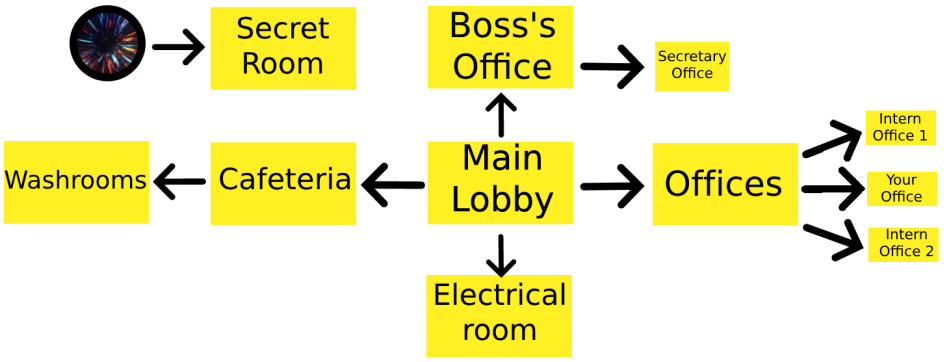

Discover funny unpredictable endings if you are creative. You can talk to the boss when your likeness is high enough and he will invite you for a business meeting to discuss your, or fail and receive a small punishment, but you can still keep trying after. Npcs can do everything you can including throwing coffee at you. But for every spill you need a refill (find a coffee pod somewhere before you can make coffee). You can find the password to your boss' computer and offer to your coworkers (NPCs) to recommend them for a promotion in a different branch.
